This is your invitation to be among the very first to reserve your own seat in the Richard B. Fisher Center for the Performing Arts.

"It automatically establishes Annandale-on-Hudson as home to one of the finest new halls in the country for symphonic and chamber music, as well as for opera, theatre and dance..."

Subscribe Today and secure your seats for three concerts by the acclaimed American Symphony Orchestra under Music Director Leon Botstein, the resident orchestra of the Frank Gehry-designed Richard B. Fisher Center for the Performing Arts.

"The orchestra and the setting were one..."

Set on the campus of Bard College, the center offers just 900 seats, bringing you closer to the orchestra than anywhere else in the nation.

"I wondered how my ears – and the hall – would hold up. They glowed. I wasn't prepared to be so ravished..."

This series features favorite masterworks of Tchaikovsky, Brahms, Berlioz, Dvořák, and Chopin. Full details are inside. Three weekend concerts – Fridays or Saturdays. One low price: just $50 – for all THREE concerts. It's like getting one concert in this magnificent hall absolutely free.

"A marvelous sound-chamber. The character of the instruments was instantly distinctive and fully expressive..."

By subscribing now, not only are your seats reserved for years to come, but you will also enjoy ticket exchange, reserved parking adjacent to the center, priority notification to purchase tickets to other events at the center in advance of public sale, pre-concert presentations by Leon Botstein, and a pre-season backstage tour of the facility. Boxes of six seats are available for just $100 – perfect for families!
